

How do we work?

One of our advantages is that we only do international removals. That is why all our staff is educated in packing and wrapping skills, most of them with several years of experience. Every year we have competence development concerning how to handle fragile furniture and in customer service. Our co-workers always dress in company clothes and carry identification cards during the removals. Alfa Quality Moving only uses wrapping which is suited specially for international removals. Worth mentioning is that our cardboard boxes are thicker than the ones local removal companies use, just to suit international removals.

Screws, keys, remotes etc will be packed into one special blue Alfa box.

Every piece will be labelled and marked and an inventory list will be drawn up.

Every piece will be wrapped in cardboard paper or blankets. Depending on the nature of furniture, we dismantle and reassemble the same. Beddings will be packed into special boxes and clothes will be hanged into wardrobe boxes.

Books will be packed lying down in the boxes.

China, glasses, other fragile items will be wrapped in white packing paper and put into boxes.

Lampshades and bulbs will be removed from the lamps and packed separately.

Kitchen utensils, pots and pans will be wrapped in white packing paper before they are put into boxes.

Paintings, pictures, mirrors will be packed into special boxes and separated with cardboard.

Special crates will be manufactured if necessary.

TV, stereo etc will be protected with cardboard and put into boxes.

Original boxes will be used if they still are available.

Carpets will be rolled or folded depending on the structure.

Dangerous goods will not be packed and shipped.

The inventory list will be signed both by the packer and customer and one copy will be handed over to the customer.
